Two young locals have been recognised for their work in the community through the Channel Nine Young Achiever Awards.

Breeze Millard has moved away from Whyalla to Adelaide, but is well known in the community for her musical talent.

Breeze won the Stormfront Productions Whyalla Recording Scholarship last year. She wrote and produced her own single “I Have My Own Life” which was met with a positive reception from many in the industry.

But it wasn't just her music that led to her nomination, with her dancing and acting talent also recognised.

“I enjoy all aspects of the arts. I've loved singing but I've also loved acting and musical theatre,” she said.

“It's a big honour to be nominated for this kind of award.”

Breeze, who was nominated by her mentors Alison Hams and Mark Tempany from Stormfront Productions, said the connections she formed through her music would help now that she's moved to Adelaide to study journalism.

“My music is something I really hope I can keep up, it can be hard to when you're attending university. But winning the recording scholarship allowed me to form a lot of connections in the industry,” she said.

In her nomination, Breeze was praised for acting as a mentor to younger music students.

“I really enjoy that kind of thing, I like to give people advice. It's nice to give them insight into what I've learnt by being apart of musicals,” she said.

The Coffee Club Arts and Fashion Award highlights the importance of the Arts Industry and rewards the next generation of artists. Finalists of the Channel Nine Young Achiever Awards will be presented and Winners announced at an Awards Gala Presentation Dinner in Adelaide on May 11.
